Colleen was born April 30, 1939, in Bainville, Montana, the daughter of William "Bill" Eschenbacher and Violet Grimes. Colleen grew up in Bainville and Culbertson, Montana, and graduated from high school in Wolf Point, Montana. Colleen worked waiting tables, doing factory work, and making bandoliers for service members overseas. After locating to Sidney, Montana, Colleen worked as a bartender at the Cheerio Lounge for fifteen years. It was a job she truly enjoyed while meeting wonderful people and friends and making many memories. Several people called Colleen "Mom," and they will miss her dearly. Colleen married Harlan Gasho in Trotters, North Dakota, on September 8, 1990, and moved to the ranch in Beach where Harlan still farms. The couple shared many years, working, playing, laughing, and making memories with each other. Colleen had many interests such as baking, gardening, putting together puzzles, and scrapbooking, but her biggest interests were crafting and crocheting. Colleen was preceded in death by her parents, Violet Grimes and Bill Eschenbacher; her son, Michael Allen Nitschke; her brother, Kenny Eschenbacher and his wife Pat; her nephew, David Eschenbacher; and her sister-in-law, Deloris Eschenbacher. Colleen is survived by her wonderful, loving husband, Harlan Gasho of Beach, North Dakota; her daughter, Renee (Dana) Kucker of Watertown, South Dakota; her grandson, Eli Plunkett of Watertown, South Dakota; her wonderful sister, Betty (Leonard) Hustad of Bainville, Montana; her brother, Dale Eschenbacher of Savage, Montana; her mother-in-law, Rose Gasho of Beach, North Dakota; Jerry (Linda) Gasho, Allen (Betty) Gasho, Don (Muriel) Sokoloski, and all her wonderful nephews, nieces and special friends.
