Rite of Committal with military honors will follow in the Dawson County Cemetery. Silvernale-Silha Funeral Home of Glendive has been entrusted with the arrangements. Charlie was born on February 3, 1914 the son of John F. and Ann (Moidl) Basta on the homestead of his parents at Union, Montana near Lindsay, Montana. He received his education in Terry where he also played football, graduating with the class of 1932. Charlie was in the United States Navy until his honorable discharge in October of 1937 when he was given permission to return home and help his mother with the farm after his father's death. Charlie married Jessie "Lollie" Gurney on February 27, 1942 in Chilicothe, Missouri. After they were married Charlie and Lollie lived on the homestead with Charlie's mother. While working for the W.P.A. Charlie met J.R. Fritchie, who needed a man to help him farm for shares. At that time many farmers were anxious to sell their homesteads due to tough times of the thirties. Charlie purchased a half section to start the "home place" west of Savage, Montana. Charlie was a very hard worker, spending endless hours in the field. Charlie was always willing to lend a helping hand to anyone. After retiring he made his hobby creating beautiful spinning wheels, redwood picnic tables and rocking horses for his family to enjoy. He also enjoyed helping his daughter Carol groom dogs, but because of his passion for the outdoors, Charlie's main love always remained farming. Charlie served on the Savage school board and was a member of St. Michaels Catholic Church. Charlie is preceded in death by his parents, his brothers, John, Emil, Adolf, Joe and Rudy, his sister Helen Brost, grandsons, Brian Pierce and Mark Basta, infant grandchildren, Carly Bloesser and Dace Tombre. Survivors include; his wife, Lollie Basta of Glendive, his son, Jim Basta (Cathy) of Savage, his daughter Carol Pierce (John) of Glendive, five grandchildren, fifteen great grandchildren, five great-great grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews. Remembrances and condolences can be shared with the family at:
