Interment will be in the Dawson Memorial Cemetery in Glendive. Silvernale-Silha Funeral Home of Glendive has been entrusted with the arrangements. Floyd was born on February 22, 1955 in Hazen, North Dakota, the son of Clem and Betty (Renner) Morast. In 1962, Floyd's parents moved their family to Glendive where he was raised and educated graduating from Dawson County High School with the class of 1973. In 1979, Floyd hired on with Burlington Northern Railroad where he started out as a brakeman and later became an engineer. Floyd met and later married Terrie Schmidt on June 26, 1976 in Glendive and to this union a son, Jeremy was born. Later this marriage ended and Floyd stayed in Glendive where he'd remained since while continuing his work with the railroad. Floyd had a great passion for his cars; washing, waxing and cruising around in his Chevy Camaro were activities he enjoyed. He loved spending time with his son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren. Floyd enjoyed taking family vacations, shopping with his daughter-in-law and granddaughter and taking his grandchildren to the park and teaching them about cars. He also enjoyed going to the lake and driving to Beulah, North Dakota to visit relatives. Floyd was a great man that was always willing to lend a helping hand. Floyd was a member of the Brotherhood of Local Engineers. Floyd was preceded in death by his sister, Donna May. Survivors include his son, Jeremy Morast and his wife Heather and their three children, Megan, Jacob and Blake of Billings, Montana; his parents, Clem and Betty Morast of Glendive; sisters, Pearl Frisinger and her husband Danny of Bozeman, Montana, Michelle Jones and her husband Bob of Glendive and Sharon Kutzler and her husband Chuck of Glendive; brother, Mark Morast of Glendive; and numerous nieces, nephews and friends.
