

Jeanette Alice Malarchick

May 14, 1930 - April 30, 2017

On April 30, 2017, Jeanette Malarchick, a dearly loved woman, merely two weeks before her 87th birthday, passed away after a long and valiant battle with breast cancer. Though her chair rests empty, our lives remain full because of her. She did not feel that she was anything special, nor did she boast about being the best mom or grandma, but she was, and she taught us what it means to love unconditionally. Was the world a better place because she was here? She would never say, but we will. She loved life and strived to live it according to the scriptures. She followed the golden rule and loved her God, Jehovah, with her whole heart, strength, and might, and her neighbor as herself (Matthew 22: 37-39). She was an excellent teacher of the bible, and more than a few improved their lives because of her efforts.

She was born in 1930, and she worked hard her entire life, doing what she loved, taking care of her family and of the land she owned. She prided herself to have lived over 50 years in the home she helped build.

Whether it was a smile or a tender look, her kindness was felt across the room even from one time zone to the next. Page after page, her life is filled with stories, tales of color and love written in Wisconsin, origin and adventure stories penned in Montana. We all had the pleasure of laughing with her, crying with her, and of course, being enveloped in her heartfelt hugs. With every moment, a memory was placed, unwavering and unbreakable. Those memories were diamonds she held in her eyes and now have become our inheritance.

This was a life that was rich in the many ways that, in the end, are truly important, love for God, family, and friends. Mom was one that lived a life of understanding that success and wealth were not associated with money or property, but were accumulated through hard work, warm hugs, and good food.

In a tearful blink, she was gone. She now sleeps for a time, awaiting her call to life again, not to a world of disease and injustices, but to a perfect paradise when God's will is finally done here on earth (John 5:28-29 Revelation 21: 3-4). She will live again, and all her friends will be there to welcome her home. She ran the race and she won (2 Timothy 4:7). We don't cry for her, we cry for each other. We lost a wonderful mom, grandma, sister, and friend. Until we see her again...

She was preceded in death by her husband of 65 years, Ervin; sister Viola; and brother Carl.

She is survived by her sons Steve and Allen; daughters-in-law Ann and Debbie; daughters Mary, Laura, Stacey, and Rachel; sons-in-law John, Jim, Scott, and Preston; sister Loretta; brothers Bud, Fred, Phillip, and Bill; fourteen grandchildren; twelve great-grandchildren; And many other wonderful family and friends.

Per Jeanette's wishes, no services will be held and cremation has taken place.

Remembrances and condolences may be shared with the family at www.silhafuneralhomes.com

“ Jeanette would begin her laborious day at the courthouse when many of us were on our last nerve and ready to shed the walls of that place for something selfish and exciting. After all these years I still remember that whenever Jeanette was in my presence the whole world felt calmer and kinder. She made a lasting impression on many, many people and I am so grateful for knowing a person of such humility and kindness.
