Shortly after his birth, Jerry and his family moved to Washington, Iowa where he attended rural schools. At the age of seventeen he enlisted in the United States Navy, and proudly served his country until he was honorably discharged in May of 1968. Following his discharge from the military, Jerry moved to the Twin Cities area in Minnesota working in various locations as a car salesman. The Twin Cities remained Jerry's home until he moved to Glendive in 2010 to be closer to his family. Jerry had two passions in his life, and the most important passion was always his family. He truly loved spending time with his three children and three grandchildren. He enjoyed softball and loved being able to watch his granddaughters play. Jerry was also quite the dancer, and he proved last August that he could still shake it at his son's wedding reception. Jerry's second passion was motorcycles. Throughout his life, he had owned a total of nineteen different motorcycles and for a short time he even entered in a few races. Jerry was preceded in death by his parents; brother, Keith Crone and sister, Karen Kleese. He is survived by his three children, Angie (Steve) Mittlestadt, Chad (Kim) Crone, and Jesse (Chelsey) Crone all of Glendive; three grandchildren, Allie, Amanda, and Taylor; three brothers, Kenny Crone of Washington, Douglas Crone of Washington, and Allen (Steph) Crone of Olathe, Kansas; two sisters, Kathy (Dean) Anderson of Pine River, Minnesota and Karma (Roger) Hansen of Washington; and numerous nieces and nephews.
