June was born on July 19, 1937 a daughter of Harold and Elisabeth (Presthus) Isaacson in Glendive. She was raised and educated in Glendive attending Dawson County High School. During high school June met and was later married to Duane "Dewey" Novakovich on February 28, 1954 and to this union three children were born. After their marriage Dewey was employed by the Montana Department of Transportation, a job that took their family all over eastern Montana, including Sidney, Malta, Scobey, and Wolf Point, Montana. During this time June stayed busy taking care of the family home as well as working at various hospitals and nursing homes as a nurse's aide and in the physical therapy department until she retired in 1991 when her husband Dewey passed away. Following Dewey's passing, June moved back to Glendive to be near her sisters where she has remained since.

June enjoyed playing the piano at family gatherings and occasionally the accordion. She also enjoyed many camping excursions and tending to her flower bed. June especially loved her grandchildren and great-grandchildren and spending time with family and friends. June was a true coffee enthusiast, she always had a hot pot of coffee on and would often enjoy a good game of pinochle. She took a special interest in the weather, something she always kept a close eye on.

June was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, and one nephew, John Gehnert.

Survivors include her daughter, Noreen Lynn (Darryl) Tolan; two sons, Doug and Randy; three granddaughters, Jenny Berreth, Amy Unruh, and Becky (James) Ward; six great-grandchildren, Tyler, Trevor, Olivia, Blake, Marissa, and Jace; two sisters, Evelyn Gehnert and Diane Henry all of Glendive; three nieces; and two nephews.

Memorials in June's name may be made to the GMC Hospice, 1221 East Ames, Glendive, Montana 59330.
