“ My uncle Scott was a one of a kind man. I had the chance of living with him numerous times throughout my life, breaking out for him on a drilling rig. He taught me to bite tires cut trees and turn wrenches Most of all He never Judged and was always there for whatever I needed. He was one of the most generous people I've ever met. He loved my son just as much as he did me. I credit him for turning me into the man I am today. I'll never forget the laughs with Scott, my cousins and I shared. He will forever live on through my sons.

“ My big brother, (older), Scott, left us too soon. He was a talented person who worked as a logger in the Black Hills, on oil rigs in Alaska and North Dakota. Scott was also a plumber, electrician, and carpenter. When I worked with him in a silk-screen business, Scott single-handedly built the shop where we worked. He taught himself to be a silk screener. Because of him, our business was one of the first in the industry to utilize Neuman Roller Frames. The tension could be adjusted to the micro newton, which allowed for extremely accurate registration of the screened image onto any surface. I remember Scott and I going to a Willie Nelson concert in Billings at the Metra. He was recognized for his intelligence, work ethic, and kind-heartedness by his friends and peers. The world will be a lesser place without him.
